LIFE AT BARIUM

By Carol Jean Andrews

Writing is one of my favorite past times, and especially am I enthusiastic when my subject is Barium, a home which I have loved since my childhood.

Our life is divided into many phases. First, let's consider work, one of the more important activities. Everyone has his specific job to do and is encouraged to do it well; for example, the babies learn to make up their beds, pick up their toys and keep their lockers clean; the girls in the seventh and eighth grades wait on tables; a job considered by many to be the hardest work on the campus. The boys this age work in the dairy.

Although our physical work is important, our mental work has an important place also. Our school is an accredited one, and we are offered about the same curriculum opportunities as other children except in vocational courses. Our vocational courses are taken care of in our "after-school" and vacation work; for instance, for the past three years I have been working in the laundry, and I can run all of the machines now. I have also had opportunities to work in our large kitchen and wait on tables. At one time I was at Howard Cottage and our main occupation was stringing beans. We were nick-named the "bean stringers" and the name has stuck through the years. I am sure all of these experiences will help me in my later life.

But all work and no play is not advocated by child psychologises, and realizing the importance of play in a child's life, the institution has wisely provided a varied recreational program. Our recreational life includes many pleasant activities. In the Fall the boys play football and following the football season comes basketball for both girls and boys. Our school has stood well in athletic contests with other schools, although we have very few students from which we can select our teams. Other enjoyable activities include swimming, skating, and softball. I think you would be surprised at the number of children, even among the smaller ones, who participate in these activities. We have an excellent library, and reading is a very popular past time for a great number of us. The librarian in charge of the Ire-

Musicians Give Band Concert

Sunday afternoon, November 30th, was an occasion to be remembered by the entire Barium family because of the fine Band Concert given at the Elementary School Building. Jack S. Paschal, president of the group of professional musicians, was responsible for making the plans and bringing this fine group together to play for the boys and girls of the Home. Mr. Paschal stated that it was their particular pleasure to bring good music to groups of students who would enjoy it. The students of the Home assured President Paschal and Conductor Kilgroves that they were thoroughly delighted with the whole of the afternoon's concert.

Tentative plans are now underway for an outdoor concert to be given sometime next spring before graduation, for these musicians have declared themselves willing to accept our invitation and return to the campus again.

Arrowood Accepts Call To Pastorate

Reverend Robert S. Arrowood presented his resignation to the Board of Regents at the meeting late in October and has accepted a call to Fayetteville Presbytery at Linden, N. C.

For the past eight years Mr. Arrowood has served as treasurer of the Home, having come to Barium from Mitchell College where he was President of the College. Coming from a family with a long heritage in the field of preaching and teaching, Mr. Arrowood has given his whole life to education and preaching. In taking up a pastorate again he says that he is returning to his first love.

For a number of years Mrs. Arrowood has not only served in the Church and in the Sunday School but has been the Kindergarten teacher for the pre-school children on the campus. These little ones had learned to look forward to their morning stay at the Arrowood home and all the students of the Home miss not only Mr. and Mrs. Arrowood but their young son, Bobby, who had made friends with young and old alike in the entire community.

Successors for Mr. Arrowood in the business office and for Mrs. Arrowood in the Kindergarten have not yet been chosen.

Christmas Programs Under Way

The Christmas spirit begins to pervade the whole of the campus. The laughter of the children and the rise in the crescendo of voices across the way indicates the joy of the occasion. Many interesting services and programs have been arranged for along with wonderful plans for Christmas treats and gifts.

On Thursday night, December 11th, the first seven grades of the school had their annual party at Davidson College. The Red and Black Maskers entertained the group in Chambers Auditorium as they presented "Why the Chimes Rang". Then the twelve fraternities and clubs of the campus took the groups to their houses for a wonderful evening.

The "Operation Christmas" from the Pope Air Base is scheduled to arrive at Barium Springs on December 16th at 10:54. Old Santa will be settling down out of the skies in the big helicopter with gifts for all of the students on the campus at that time.

On Wednesday, the 17th, at the regular prayer meeting hour the Christmas pageant will be given in the Elementary School auditorium. Thursday, the 18th, will be family night when the total Barium family will gather for an evening meal in the dining room for the Give-To Christmas Tree with the singing of carols, the decorating of the tree, the turning on of the lights to begin the official Christmas week. At the time all persons will bring to the tree some gift representing the gift of the Home to be used for others. After this there will be individual cottage parties and Christmas shopping going on until the morning of Christmas Day when every cottage having a Christmas tree inside

Yes, its us again but not quite as newsy as before. We have been so busy drawing turkeys and pumpkins that we haven t noticed much going on around us.

We got our report cards again and many of us made the honor roll. There were no bad conduct grades. We'd better be good since we've written our Santa Claus letters because Santa's going to be keeping his eye on us. Some of us have been smarter than others and six of us are going

MY STORY

By Pattie Inman

I would like to tell you the story of my life at Barium from my own point of view; and I think that from it you will be able to see something of the average student's life here in our Home.

I am a senior this year, and as May and graduation approach, I am inclined to think back over the many happy and sad occasions which I have experienced, occasions which I I know will linger long in my memory.

I shall never forget my first impression of Barium. We drove up in my father's car and it seemed that everywhere we looked there were trees. Those of you who have been to Barium know that the road leading up to the dining room and on around to the highway is lined on both sides with maple trees. We came to Barium around the last of September and these trees were in their full Autumn glory. I have since then lived through eleven such Autumns on our campus, but I think my first one I shall remember longest.

The first three years of my life here stand out in my memory as one long happy period of playing in the little playhouse which stands in the yard, putting my old rag doll to bed every night and something which then wasn't quite so pleasant, going to school and learning the fundamentals of reading, writing and 'rithmetic.

As I grew older and moved to another cottage, I became aware of the fact that all play and no work makes Pattie a dull girl so I remember many hours of sitting on the back porch at Howard Cottage and stringing crates of beans at a time. This sounds like a lot of hard work, but we really enjoyed it because here was where we did a lot of group singing and story telling.

When I was twelve years old, I graduated so to speak, from bean stringing and learned to wash dishes and wait on tables. This is about the hardest work which the girls do at Barium; but it was still fun because we could sing while we washed dishes.

The spring of '47 was a happy time for me. I had moved to the Woman's Building and was considered a "big girl." With this promotion, however, came new responsibilities; so off I went to the laundry or kitchen, whichever one I happened to be assigned to at the time. The girls from the eighth grade to the eleventh rotate jobs each month between the kitchen, laundry and the building in which they live.

Some girls are chosen each summer to work in the buildings with the smaller children and it was my privilege to work at the Infirmary my sophmore and junior years. I had been interested in nursing for quite a while and so welcomed this opportunity to get a little experience in this line of work. We did a lot of the actual work such as making beds and taking temperatures. I remember one time we had an epidemic and every bed was taken up; we had beds in the halls and still there wasn't enough room for all who were sick. This only happens once in a while, but it really is an experience I shall never forget.

Last summer I moved back to the Woman's Building and at present am working in the sewing room. All the senior girls work here, making such things as dresses for all the girls on the campus, pajamas, curtains and sheets. All the girls look forward to being a senior and working in the sewing room. At present some of the seniors are doing substitute matron's work at the cottages for smaller children, so when Tuesdays roll around each week, I find myself at Synod's Cottage with the twenty-three little boys from six to ten who live there. From their nick-name, "the wigglers", you can tell something of what they are like, for this name was aptly chosen. They are a lot of fun to work with, and I thoroughly enjoy my Tuesdays with the Synod's boys.

So much of these rambling thoughts have been about work that you may get the impression that we work all of the time and never have any time to play. However, we do have a very adequate amount of recreation provided for us, mostly in the form of sports. Football, which I enjoy only as a spectator, of course, and basketball, which I participate in are my favorites, but swimming, dancing, skating and movies also rate high on the list. We have an excellent library at Barium which we use all the time during school and which is open every Tuesday night in the summer. So you see that we have an adequate amount of work and play with neither being overemphasized.

I have tried to show you in my desultory fashion something of my life at Barium, hoping that you will get a cross section of how an average child lives in this wonderful home.

to recite the "Childs Catechism" to our pastor tomorrow. They are Patsy Porter, Claudeth Merritt, Judy Hamilton, Mary Jane Bolton, Pamela Fair and Evelyn Pursley. We are proud of them and some others are right behind them.

We are always glad to have visitors and we have had several lately. We couldn't eat our lunch Sunday we were so busy watching a little baby. She watched us a while and then got tired and went to sleep. being three months old, she hasn't yet acquired a big appetite, so our noisy forks and spoons didn't bother a bit.

We dream about turkey and pumpkin pie and can't wait till Thursday. We hope that all of you have a happy Thanksgiving.

Lees

You have not heard from us in a long time.

We went to the football banquet Friday night. We had steak and other good things. We all enjoyed it very much.

We didn t have any games this year, because we were not allowed to play any team over ten miles away. The ones who were within ten miles didn't have 95-lb. teams. We had an inter-squad game though. We envited everyone on the campus to come to see us. We all had a good time.

We got report cards today. Some got good marks and some did not do so well, so that means someone is going to have to study more.

We are starting basketball now. Maybe we will have a game or two before Christmas.

We have written our Christmas letters, and are looking forward to Christmas.

We went to hear the Charlotte Boys Choir about three weeks ago. Mrs. Spencer took us. We all enjoyed it very much.

Farm News

After reading the Messenger for a few years I find that always there is news about the cottages and what goes on around them, but very seldom do I see anything about the work at Barium. I am taking this opportunity to tell you about one particular work - the Farm.

Mr. J. F. Stinson, the farm boss and one of the best has a pretty hard job in keeping in check all the work done over the farm. He reports that so far this fall he has already gotten 80 acres of ground ploughed for corn planting in the spring, and a good many more for the grain. After all the corn shucking is done there will be approximately 2000 bushels for feed in the winter. Also Mr. Stinson says that he has 86 hogs to kill and has already killed 17 for the coming winter.

The hay did not get off to such a good start this year but after a little rain we had a good crop and all the barns are full for the purpose of feeding the livestock.

Not only is there corn, and grain for the farm but also we have our own truck farm which is a part of the farm. We raise most of our vegetables for the dining room. There are tomatoes, potatoes, beans, onions, and many other vegetables.

During the summer there were only 16 boys and 5 hired hands working on the farm and you can imagine what a time we had. During the winter when the boys are in school the 5 hired hands do most of the work.

Well, we finally got a new tractor, trading in one that had served us faithfully for the past eleven years.

When Thanksgiving comes around and there are things to be thankful for, surely one that I would put near the top of my list would be the Barium farm, not only on Thanksgiving, but every day.

dell County Book Mobile Service says that our reading program is the most effective of any school in the county that she serves. Other forms of recreation are enioying folk and square dancing, attending movies and going on vacations each summer to visit our relatives and friends.

I would not have you think that all we do is work and play. Our religious life is by no means neglected. In school each day devotionals are held in our home rooms. There are few students of high school age who are not familiar with writers such as Peter Marshall, Fulton Ousler, Norman Vincent Peale, Loyd C. Douglas, and who have not read books written by or about them. Church attendance on Sunday and Wednesday night is compulsory. We have our young people's groups and attend rallies and church conferences. I had the opportunity of attending the conference held at Old Fort last summer, which proved to be a very inspirational experience.

When we get sick, we go to the Infirmary where a registered nurse is employed; and she has her little helpers who have been nick-named "Florence Nightingales."

Each Christmas it has become a custom to have a "Give-to" Christmas tree in order to make a Happy Christmas possible for some one else. As each person gives his donation to an unfortunate family he puts a decoration on the tree, which remains in the middle of our large dining room throughout the holidays to remind us that we have had a share in giving.

From these fragmentary sentences you can not properly visualize us working, playing and worshiping as one big happy family. Won't you come to see us?

with all of the gifts around it ready for the early hours of Christmas morning. Christmas breakfast has been planned and the annual Christmas dinner with turkeys provided by Dr. Scott of Statesville. These fine turkeys are in deep freeze and will be ready for that day. There can be no doubt but what the campus is going to be flooded with great joy and pleasure as the holidays come and the children are again delighted with all of the Christmas plans provided for the Home through the many thoughtful friends.

Joe Barkley, Ennis Blackburn, Calvin Burleson, Cromer Curtis, Wilbert Frazier, Jim Johnson, Charles Hall, Jerry Hudgins, Archie McMannen, Bob McMannen, Melvin Morrison, Leroy Norman, Woody Smith, Dean Upton, Albert Williams.

No awards were made to the midget squad but recognition was given to them for their fine work in practice and the excellent spirit which they have shown on the field.

Principal R. G. Calhoun in awarding the letters commended the boys for their cooperative spirit and for the excellent way in which they have participated in sports this year. In the overall record there were four wins and four losses. One of the losses was outside the conference which gave a 4-3 standing for the conference season. The wins were over Thomasville, Wilkes Central, Lexington, and Mooresville, while Barium lost to Asheboro, Statesville, Valdese and Children's Home.

The dining room was attractively arranged with the tables representing a football field. The dietician and her helpers had prepared a bountiful meal, topping it off with ice cream and cake.

When the banquet was concluded Mrs. McLuen directed an evening of activity for all the guests at the Activities Building.

High School and Beta Club News

People have said that progress is growing greater each year. In our Barium High School, that is a correct statement, especially when observing our improved activities over several year.

Recently the Junior and Senior Home Economics Classes sponsored a dance in our new gym following our seasonal football banquet. It proved to be a success, and after several dances, refreshments were served by the girls.

One of the leading organizations in our school is the Beta Club. It has proved to be a worthwhile organization and has taken over many projects this year.

The club sponsored the refreshment stand at all of our home football games, bringing in a large profit for the club. Along with the members of both our schools, they helped collect a total of $20.57 for the Junior Red Cross Drive. The club is planning a play to help collect more money to send their members to the convention in April.

Last week the club held an installation service and instlled five new members. We hope these new members can help to improve and establish our activities to a greater extent in the coming year.

Basketball Gets Underway

Coach Calhoun is shaping up the 1952-53 basketball teams to represent Barium. Practice games were held at Hickory with Hickory being the winner in both instances. Three additional games are scheduled before Christmas, the return game with Hickory, and two games with Landis. By the time the month of December has gone by the coaches will have a pretty good idea of what they have to work with for the coming year and will be planning to try to take the top standing in the South Piedmont Conference race. We will be missing considerable height in the absence of Mack Wicker, but the replacements seem to be able to give good account of themselves with their ability to handle the ball even though they are not a tall.

The additional material for the girls' team seems to bid well for the next couple of years. There is some height and some speed and the combination of these two ought to make for a good team among the girls.
